

BIO 335 : Human Anatomy and Physiology I

This course is a study of the human body on both the microscopic and macroscopic levels, to assist the student in comprehending the interrelationship of the various organ systems of the body. The course includes a study of the anatomical structures and physiological processes of the integumentary, skeletal, muscular, nervous, and sensory systems. Three hours of lecture, two hours of laboratory per week.

Credits 3

Prerequisite Courses

BIO 142