

HIS 433 : Modern International History

This course is an interpretation of the contemporary world covering the legacies of the twentieth century. Topics include political and military interactions, the developing economics of global power, the history of current ideological, cultural and social forces, the roles of individual personalities in history, and related topics.

Credits 3