

MAT 334 : Numerical Analysis and Simulation

This course emphasizes programming applications using numerical methods for finding roots of equations, solutions of simultaneous linear equations, and numerical integration. The course also introduces students to computer simulations and simulation methods.

Credits 3

Prerequisites

CSC 131, MAT 241, and MAT 234.