

PSC 337 : American Political Parties and Politics

This course presents the study of the activities of political parties and pressure groups in American politics. Attention is given to party organization and finance, to the electorate, nominating procedures, elections, and campaign techniques.

Credits 3