

BUS 234 : Principles of Microeconomics

This course is a study of the basic factors acting on producer and consumer, including supply and demand, prices, markets, governmental policy in regard to business, and labor.

Credits 3