

EDU 230 : Integrating Technology in Education

This course is an introduction to the theoretical and practical aspects of infusing technology into instruction. The focus is on lessons that integrate technology into various subject areas and grade levels. Basic instructional technology skills and knowledge are taught. Candidates become familiar with application software such as word processing, database, spreadsheet, and hypermedia, desktop publishing and telecommunications and learn to evaluate hardware and software.

Credits 3