

EED 437 : Methods/Materials of Teaching Science and Health

This course is a study of the science/health curriculum, materials and instructional methods used to teach science and health in grades K-6.

Credits 3

Prerequisites

Admission to Teacher Education. Public or private school field experience is a requirement of this course. Membership in the Student Alabama Education Association is required in order to take this course.