

HPR 231 : History and Principles of Physical Education

This course is a study of the historical roles, principles, philosophical/social perspectives, legislation, and trends/issues in physical education and sports programs. Other topics covered include the Olympic games and career options in the field of Physical Education.

Credits 3