

HPR 433 : Kinesiology

This course is designed to analyze the movement of the human body and to discover their underlying principles. The mechanical aspects of human movement and elements of various motor skills and performance concepts will be emphasized.

Credits 3