CIT 421 : Cyber Security Intelligence

This course builds on the foundations of Cyber Intelligence which focuses on applying intelligence analytic methods to plan, collect, process, analyze, produce, and disseminate cyber intelligence products. Students will learn to apply intelligence analytic methods to create actionable intelligence products that support a cybersecurity mission. Cyber Security Intelligence incorporates threat intelligence, threat analysis, and other forms of securing computer networks taught in other courses of the curriculum.

Credits 3
Prerequisites
CIT 411