

REL 333 : Prophets of the Old Testament

This course is a study of the prophetic movement in ancient Israel and its historical background in antiquity attends to the ethics and theology of the prophets and their concern with the problems of justice in society. Fall alternate years.

Credits 3